

Score reports and how to interpret them

TestPrep-Online offers a sample test for every pack to check your performance before you even start studying. The sample test is comprised of 10 questions based on the format of the test you are preparing for in order to provide a small taste of what to expect, while being indicative as to where you stand on the process of succeeding.

Upon completion, you will see a graph with your raw score. Beneath the graph, you have a distribution of the questions into the respective sections of the test, as well as which ones you have answered correctly or incorrectly.

The results from the sample test can be interpreted as follows:

- ❖ [1-4]: Try solving more exercises to improve your performance. Review the topics you have learned and try once more to check for improvement.
- ❖ [5-8]: You are on the right track! The score report can help you identify the areas that require further practicing. Our practice packs will help you focus and develop those topics to achieve the best score.
- ❖ [9-10]: Well done! Your performance was great, maintain your A-game by doing some extra practice.
